I have made sure the realraum has my portrait (~300x300px) to make it easier for members to recognize me.

I hereby understand and agree, that an entry about me will be saved on the internal wiki, containing my name, nickname, photo, e-mail, members who are sponsoring my membership and what tools I am allowed to use, respectively have received initial training for. I understand that members of realraum can see this entry and will use it to check whether I am authorized to use a certain tool, to make it easier to recall my name or to contact me in case I ask them too or should a special need arise. (lost stuff, ask about project, etc. Spam is NOT tolerated). I understand that I can ask any member or vorstand@realraum.at at any time to remove me from the most current list and that the wiki still saves a history of all previous edits and versions of that list. I agree that my data will remain on the wiki in fond remembrance even if I ever stop being a member until I rescind this agreement. I understand that, should I harm realraum in any way, my data will remain in the wiki as documentation and warning to others for up to seven years. I agree I hereby have sold my soul to realraum and by removing this last sentence I demonstrate my ability to read thus far and that I am a helpful person who did not tweak the previous text so much as to change its meaning.
